

The SILC office has been closed for approximately a month now. The executive director is working remotely from home. Our meetings will be by Zoom until further notice.

We are working on give to Lincoln day and our goal for that is to get funds to buy hand sanitizer and masks to distribute to people with disabilities.

We have Zoom meetings every two weeks with the executive committee to discuss pandemic policy and any changes that need to be made or implemented.

We recently finished our state plan for the next three years (SPIL) and will submit that after approval from the committee at our next meeting on May 14. We may need a meeting before that due to new information we got about changes to the SPIL concerning the coronavirus cares package payments. Our executive director is planning to retire next spring and we are discussing the plans to make that a smooth transition.

SILC has sent out a survey about how people are doing with the pandemic and any needs they may have. We got a large response and we have sent out a second survey that is currently in process of getting responses. We have heard back from all across Nebraska on these surveys and have referred people to services needed during this time.
